Every Halloween, Dabney House conducts the infamous “Millikan pumpkin-drop experiment” from the top of Millikan Library, the highest point on campus.

- A claim was once made that the shattering of a pumpkin frozen in liquid nitrogen and dropped from a sufficient height would produce a triboluminescent spark.
- This yearly event involves a crowd of observers, who try to spot the elusive spark.
- The title of the event is an oblique reference to the famous Millikan oil-drop experiment which measured  $e$ , the elemental unit of electrical charge.
